Union Picnic.

The Union picnic held at the grove on Spruce Canyon (residence of Thos. Brown) was a success in every way. The number attending was much greater than expected, a conservative estimate being 350, as people came from Willowdale, Red Deer and many outside points. On account of the extreme heat the people were late in arriving, which delayed the sports until after dinner, which was served on a long table in the grove.

After dinner Rev. McKenzie was called for, but he being absent, Thos. Brown, chairman, called on Mr. J. Northey, the Superintendent of the Balmoral Sunday School, to speak. He gave a very interesting and earnest address on the advantage of the Sunday Schools, and commended the holding of Sunday School picnics as an encouragement to the children. His speech was very highly appreciated by his hearers.

Rev. McKenzie now being present, he was again called upon, and responded in a very able address, setting forth the welcome given by Canada and especially the Northwest to all classes of people, and showing the duties of the Sunday school and church in the great work before them.

The program of sports was as follows:

Boys' race, 16 yrs. and under, 1st, R. Vanlyke; 2nd, C. Bolze; girls' race, 16 and under, 1st, Miss Henderson; 2nd, M. McLaughlin; boys' race, 12 and under, 1st, F. Storey; 2nd, B. Erickson; girls' race, 12 and under, 1st, M. McLaughlin; 2nd, Y. Briggs; boys' race, 8 and under, 1st, E. Pike; 2nd, H. Bolze; girls' race, 8 and under, 1st, E. Peterson; 2nd, E. Cruikshanks; boys' pie race, 1st, E. Briggs; 2nd, R. Michener; ladies' race, 1st, Mrs. Peterson; 2nd, Mrs. Briggs; cow boy race, 1st, E. Fiske; 2nd, J. Erickson; handiwork horse race, open—prize was divided between L. E. Brown, L. B. Brown, J. Parlington and H. Bryan.

Baseball: No visiting teams being present, L. E. Brown and H. Corrigan chose up sides and had a match which resulted in a tie.

The football game between Willowdale and Valley Centre was a hotly contested game, which was stopped by the rain at half time with a score of 1-0 in favor of Valley Centre.

During the afternoon the organ arrived, and the children gave several pretty selections. Great credit is due to Mrs. Bodwell for the success she has had as their teacher.

Immediately after this Mr. E. Michener, M.P., was asked to give an address. He complied with the request, and gave an able speech on independence and union. He showed the great advantage that is derived from being independent in thought and action and in having the courage to do right while the union gives strength and helps the nation to advance. He then encouraged the children in their studies and their manly sports. Everybody who had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Michener's address greatly appreciated it, and he was applauded vigorously. Mr. Michener moved a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Brown for their hospitality, which was carried unanimously.

TRAGIC DEATH IN SASKATOON.

Eddie Green Fell From Bridge Over Saskatchewan River.

Saskatoon, Sask., July 25th.—Eddie Green, a popular young hardware clerk, employed by S. A. Clark, met a most tragic death some time Thursday night last, but it was not until late Saturday afternoon that news of the fatality was revealed. About four o'clock Saturday afternoon the R.N.W.M.P. were notified that the body of a man was lying on the rocks underneath the C.N.R. bridges. After immediately proceeding to the spot designated, the constable discovered the bruised, battered and almost unrecognizable remains of young Green. Just when and how the accident occurred or whether there was any foul play is not quite apparent, but opinion seems to favor the former theory.

It would appear that on Thursday evening last, about eleven o'clock, Green left the city for his boarding house, which was with his employer, Harold Willoughby, in the park. In getting there he had to cross the bridge, and it is believed that while walking on a "stringer" he was hit by something which projected from one of the cars, which were shunting on the bridge, and hurried from the structure. Immediately underneath is a pile of rocks, which remain as a remnant of the old bridge across the Saskatchewan river, and into these the young man was hurled with great force, alighting on his head with the result that his skull was cracked open and his face and other extremities terribly lacerated. Whether in the fall or through some other cause, both legs had been broken, the bone in the right leg protruding from the flesh above the knee. These injuries must have brought death almost immediately, and it is not believed the young man ever regained consciousness from the time he was struck until he died. Deceased was a clerk in Smith & Gaetz' hardware store, Red Deer, about two years ago, was third baseman in the Wigwam baseball team, and had many warm friends in town, who will regret to hear of his tragic death.

Red Deer Iron Works.

The Red Deer Iron Works is becoming known throughout the whole country owing to the energy and capability of its well known proprietor J.W. Broughton who is busy doing work in all parts of the district. He has just returned from Camrose where he has been for several weeks installing some machinery in a tannery, and he left Monday for Blackfalds where he will do some repair work on a threshing outfit east of that village. But he is never idle, first he is repairing machinery in a sawmill, then fixing a traction engine in another place and he says he is kept pretty busy all the time. A man came down from Edmonton a short time ago with some work that he could not do in that city and Mr. Broughton easily did it. It is gratifying to know that we have such a capable machinist in our midst, and we hope Mr. Broughton's business will continue to grow.

SYLVAN LAKE.

Red Deer's Watering Place All The Rage.

R. C. Brumpton and F. Hart have nice gasoline launches and E. Armeau is always on hand with his sail boat. These boats are a great pleasure to the people at the Lake.

The grand summer weather of last week drew a great people to Sylvan Lake. There are now two hotels for the accommodation of the general public although Mr. Loiselle's is hardly completed as yet, still it will soon be finished.

The boys of the Calgary and Edmonton Y. M. C. A. who have been camping to the number of 30 for some weeks, returned home Saturday. They were so well pleased with their outing that they had their camp outfit stored for next year when they claim three times as many will come to enjoy the camp life.

At the upper camp are R. B. Woodsworth and family, L. M. Gaetz and wife, together with Mrs. Edmond, Harry Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Will Stephenson, of Wetaskiwin, Geo. Lindsay and family, Dr. Plaxton and wife, McKinnon Bros. and sisters, John Malcolm and family, R. C. Brumpton and family and others. At the lower camp are K. M. Byers and wife, W. Great Power Rests with the House of Commons.

In a previous letter we have seen that the House of Commons is the dominant body of the Legislature. To say that, hardly conveys to Americans who are accustomed to a careful division of power among the various branches of Government an adequate idea of the enormous preponderance in the affairs of the country possessed by this House. Every act of government, small or great, is performed by Ministers who hold the positions by virtue of the support of the House of Commons, and who must leave office the moment it disapproves of any one of them. The House of Commons can investigate any department of the government, or any official action of any Minister. It can oblige any civil servant to appear and give evidence as to the way the business is managed. Its power is as great as that of the President and Congress of the United States rolled into one. The result is curious in one way. The United States system affords a great variety of methods of using men of political talent. A man can be elected President who has never been elected to anything else. Men often are appointed Cabinet Ministers who never have been elected at all, and who perhaps could not get elected for any district. Men become Senators who never have been elected to the House of Representatives. Governor Hughes of New York would probably make a bad candidate in any single constituency yet he has no difficulty in becoming virtual ruler of a whole State. There are innumerable elections for all sorts of positions from sheriffs and judges up to President. As a result, no one election except that for the President is overpoweringly important.

In Canada, on the other hand, there is practically only one door whereby a man can enter Dominion politics. He must get elected a member of the House of Commons. If he wishes to be Premier, an office which corresponds in point of view with that of the President, he must be a member of the House of Commons. If he wishes to be a Cabinet Minister he must be a member of Parliament. Elect a man to the House of Commons, and you put him in a position to become if he is able enough and fortunate enough, one of the rulers of the nation. Everything centres in the House of Commons. Consequently our election of members to the House of Commons is our great political event; in reality it is of more importance to us than the election of the President is to the United States. If a Democrat were elected President, he could do very little with both Senate and the House of Representatives under the control of the opposite party. Let the Opposition win in an election to the Canadian House of Commons, and the whole policy of the country will be changed just as soon as the formal business necessary to the change of administration can be accomplished.

TOWN COUNCIL MEET.

CASE OF L. C. FULMER BROUGHT UP AGAIN.

His worship the Mayor, W. J. Bottrell, was in the chair at 8 o'clock without a member present. Councillor Hill strolled in and was surprised at seeing his workshop at his post. He was explaining the case of L. C. Fulmer, Pidgeon and Tallman soon took their seats and order was called. The Mayor suggested $5 or fifteen days should be imposed in future for neglect of duty.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The following correspondence was read: Enquiry re. licenses for entertainments was received from Waskivian. Secretary will reply.

Calgary Iron Works wrote the Council they were making valves for water works and asked for order. Fillet.

Correspondence re. vault door dealt with in commissioners' report.

H. Meeres wrote he desired to purchase A. W. Gilbert's seven-acre business if the Council were willing, and if they thought that it would not conflict with his duties.

Councillor Pidgeon moved seconded by Councillor Tallman, that the request of Chief Meeres contained in his letter dated July 14th be not granted. Carried.

The London Guarantee and Accident Co. wrote stating they had received the secretary's letter enclosing declaration as to the amount of L. C. Fulmer's defalcation and that they had handed the matter over to J. H. Crawford, banker.

Mr. Crawford said the guarantee company suggested the bonds escheated be turned over to the Town.

The mayor stated they had nothing to do with this phase of the case the Guarantee Company must either pay the Town at once or action would be taken to recover the amount.

The commissioners brought in the following report:

COMMISSIONER'S REPORT. Mr. Cook Ass't. inspector of Weights & Measures inspected the town and Stockyard scales on 9th & 10th insts. We requested him to make a thorough inspection which he did. He reported the stockyard scales to be absolutely correct, and the Market scales as weighing 5 lbs. per head to heavy giving the seller the much advantage.

We have received the printed town maps. We recommend that they be sold for $5.00 each, and that the Solicitor and each Councillor be supplied with one free, so that they can keep informed from time to time of work done on certain streets.

The report was amended by adding the town newspapers to this list, as they attend all meetings and look after the town's interests.

We received a telegram that the quarantine on dogs has been raised. We have instructed the Chief of Police to suspend all dogs on all streets dog found running on the streets without tags or muzzles.

We interviewed Jas. Bower, Pres. of Farmers' Ass'n. re stock yard improvements and got the suggestion. On 21st inst. with Mr. Brumpton we visited the yard and recommend that the C. P. R. be requested to put in a chute for unloading hogs from the wagons. We also recommended that we be authorized to have the brush out around the entrance to the corrals and if necessary a wire fence built to make the entrance acceptable to shippers.

We wish to express to the Council our appreciation of the good service Foreman Milfin has been giving the Town this year. We have been compelled to give him much extra work and supervision besides looking after the sewers, and in every case the work has been attended to promptly, in many cases after hours.

The sewer connection has been put into the creamery, and most of the others which we have received applications. There has been several cave ins lately but fortunately no one has been hurt. We have instructed Foreman Milfin to spare no pains to safe guard the men at work.

On the 9th inst. J. B. Robinson representing Vestons Agency called on us with an advertising scheme for the town. We referred him to the Board of Trade.

Mr. Dingman representing the Municipal Post called at the office on the 20th inst. and inspected our office system and finances. We authorized him to insert advertisement for debentures in two issues for $5.00 with inclusion of a year's subscription to the paper.

We decided subject to your approval to issue license to Cole Brothers for one day, Ave. 4th St. $25 and to charge them $5.00 for water. This is $5.00 more than has been charged for the past two years.

On the 19th inst. with a view to testing the fire alarm system, fire brigade and water pressure, we burned in an alarm from Victoria Ave. From the time the telephone was taken off the hook central replied in twenty seconds. The apparatus arrived at the Red Deer Brick yard, hose stretched and water turned on in 71-2 minutes from time of alarm.

The Secretary Treasurer has been summoned to attend court in Seattle on Monday 28th, inst. at 10 a.m. to attend the trial of L. C. Fulmer, there and it will be necessary for him to be away at least 24 hours.

The tax notices have been prepared and will be posted on Monday 28th.

Pursuant to your instructions the following figures have been revised the figures for the 1908 rates and have had the rate by-law amended striking rates as follows: General 6 mills, Debenture 5 mills, D. S. General 5.5 mills, S. Debenture 2.4, St. School 7.75.

This by-law we submit for your consideration. No petitions have been received against the Local Improvement rates that have been advised.

By-law 21 regarding assessment levying of rate was read a third time and finally passed.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were passed: John Cook, $15.00; H. Meeres, $20.00; J. W. Hardy, $14.00; D. Robertson, $24.00; sheet no. 3, $2.80; Financial Part 6.00; Lerouge & Lo-Saunier 1.15; E. A. Kirk 3.50; H. Gaetz 20.00.

Councillor Pidgeon drew attention to the hydrants on Gaetz avenue north which were leaking. They will be attended to at once even if new hydrants have to be installed.

Councillor McKee found fault with the way the engineer was doing his work as it was hard to find him when wanted for information.

The commissioners said they would have a talk with the engineer.

Councillor Tallman drew attention to the risky walk to the hospital. He thought some aid should be given to this pressing need.

The Mayor reminded him that no request had been presented to the Council for such a walk from the Hospital Board as yet.

Councillor McKee did not believe in a long plank walk as it was always dangerous. He thought we should have four foot walk.

The Commissioners thought a gravel walk would fill the bill.

The Mayor brought up the question of a second pump at the power house. He favored installing a second pump. He spoke of the danger of depending on one pump and referred to the difficulties in Edmonton.

It was shown the cost would be nearly $4000.

Councillor Pidgeon believed a money by-law would carry for such a purpose.

Councillor Tallman favored making fire protection as strong as possible and would like to see the question investigated.

Councillor T. A. Gaetz was in favor of another pump and would like to see the Commissioners report on probable expense in connection with such a pump.

This was agreed upon and they will probably bring in a report at next meeting.

The Council decided that Chief Roth should be called to Seattle as a witness for the Crown against L. C. Fulmer. Mr. Halstead to take duty as Chief of police until his return.

Council adjourned.

Fearful Storm in Saskatchewan.

Houses Blown To Pieces. Details are just to hand of the awful havoc wrought by a cyclone which visited Golden Valley, eight miles south of Lloydminster. What was formerly a prosperous valley filled with the homesteads of prosperous settlers with well built houses and extensive improvements, is to-day a picture of desolation and ruin. The storm struck Lloydminster in the evening and for an hour the lightning never ceased, while the thunder rolled and the rain came down in torrents, simply flooding the town and locality.

The storm seemed to come from the west and visited Vermillion and other points in Alberta and can be seen from there bearing down on Lloydminster. Whilst not a breath of wind was felt in town, the force with which the cyclone struck the valley was terrific. To day the effects of it may be seen for miles and in the Lloydminster hospital four people are suffering from minor injuries incurred, the most serious being a broken leg caused by its owner being tossed about in a house, which turned complete somersaults four or five times.

In Golden Valley, heavy wag-

Was sired by the world renowned "Zoumbur," 2 H, the greatest show horse and sire of extreme speed that ever lived. Besides many other great ones he sired "Italia" 2:04, world's record for green mare, "San Francisco" 2:07, world's record for three heats by green stallion, "Lyncott" 2:08, world's record for three-year-old gelding. Zoumbur's claim to greatness rests not alone with his sire, as his 1st and 2nd dams were both great trotters and his 3rd dam was "Teresa," one of the twelve greatest mares that ever lived. Come to my barn and carefully study his tattered pedigree, and you will be convinced he is a Prince, and son of a King. The Zoumburs have sold for thousands, where other good horses have brought only hundreds. Farmers, as well as others, look to your interests, and breed a mare or two to a Zoumbur while you can. RAILWAY RUMORS.

The air is full of railway rumors, and the citizens of Red Deer have difficulty in keeping track of the numerous prognostications with reference to our future.

That Red Deer's future as a prominent railway centre is growing brighter day by day is apparent to every one who studies the map of Alberta.

That the C. P. R. is making good by connecting us with the Langdon branch line is also an assured fact, and the hundreds of thousands of dollars expended by this company in making preparation for the time when this line will reach here, is also understood by everybody.

That the C. P. R. will expend many thousands more in the erection of a fine new station in the near future is also understood.

That the C. N. R. will connect with our town next year is also believed by prominent citizens, as we have the word of the company to that effect.

But now John T. Moore comes forward with a statement that the Alberta Central will build an independent line of its own from Moose Jaw westward through Red Deer.

Taking the cost of the G. T. P. as a basis, the construction of which has cost about fifty thousand dollars a mile, this proposed line would cost from one to two million dollars. No one believes the Alberta Central capable of such an undertaking.

But if the G.T.P. or one of the great American lines is behind the scheme then there will be no kick coming from the News.

If Jim Hill desires to reach the Yellow Head pass he could find no more direct route than a short link to Moose Jaw, from Moose Jaw north west to Red Deer and from here westward.

Some think this last move of Mr. Moore's is only done to hold on to the Alberta Central until he can make a big thing out of it. But when it is understood that the subsidy and charter will probably expire shortly unless something in the way of a start is made, it looks as though Mr. Moore had determined to get busy, and the result of the company's meeting next month will be awaited with considerable interest by a long suffering public.

Our advice to the citizens of Red Deer is to have unbounded confidence in our future. To leave no stone unturned to promote our welfare, and to be ready to take up with enthusiasm any movement that will promote our welfare and the growth of our town. In the meanwhile, sit tight.

SENATOR PERLEY.

When the history of the Northwest is written, says the Regina West, there will be few names occupy a more prominent place than that of the late Senator Perley. From his arrival in 1882 until his death, he was an active participant in every great movement affecting the West, not only in political life but also in our greatest industry—agriculture.

Coming to the West with considerable experience in political and municipal life, he at once became the leader in his own district and in a brief time was recognized as one of our most forcible and able men. From the beginning he was the recipient of the confidence of his associates, which manifested itself in the many honorable and important offices which he occupied and which he filled with marked ability, always actuated by a sturdy patriotism for the West. A man of strong character and great activity, he was always a firm friend and generous opponent.

The town of Wolsley has lost its first citizen—one who did much toward its development and always had a keen interest in its welfare and progress. Conservatism throughout the province will mourn the loss of a faithful and trusted leader, who remained true to the principles of Canada's National Party and whose political career was unstained by jobbery or corruption. One of the last of the Old Guard who sturdily supported Sir John A. Macdonald in his plans for the developing of the Canadian West and imbuing the people with a national spirit, has passed away with a secure place in the memory of a grateful people.

FINED FOR NOT CUTTING WEEDS.

It is the intention of the Weed Inspectors to see that their instructions are carried out this season.

The Herald is pleased to extend congratulations to Mr. Meade.

Eckville.

Mrs. Snell and Mrs. Chas. Snell who were spending a week at Sylvan Lake have returned.

Mrs. C. Snell had an unpleasant experience while boating on the lake. The boat in which she was sailing, with Mr. and Mrs. B. Krause and baby, capsized. Mr. Krause was able to get all to the shore, little the worse, except for a shock. Mr. and Mrs. Bruynseralde, spent Sunday at the Lake.

The crops are making a good show and in some sections haying has commenced. New potatoes have been in use for some time.

Mr. Eckford is having a cottage built close to the townsite.

Lacombe.

Killed By a Horse.

On Tuesday afternoon, "Woodmen," E. K. Strathy's coach stallion kicked his groom, Charley Bishop, on the forehead, above the right eye, inflicting an injury which proved fatal, the victim of the accident passing away at 10.30 Wednesday night.

Charley had brought the horse of which he was very proud, out to show to his brother who had arrived the day before for a visit, and in an unguarded moment while speaking to his brother the horse kicked with the result chronicled.

Charley Bishop came to Canada from Brighton, England, and came to Lacombe about three years ago in charge of Mr. Strathy's horses, and has been in Mr. Strathy's employ most of the time since.—Advertiser.

FOLEY'S PREMIER SODAS

"The flour and hard used in any soda may be good, but that is not all that is wanted in a satisfying beverage—it is not all that Foley's Soda gives.

"Good flavor is essential. In securing the good flavor of Foley's Soda we recognize the importance of a perfectly operating yeast. We take no chances with our yeast. We could buy it from outside makers at less cost, but we do not do so—all the yeast used in Foley's Soda is made in our own factory and by securing perfect working of that yeast, we get the delightful flavor for which Foley's Soda is famous.

"Never sour, never flat or pasty—always sweet, crisp and good all the way through.

HYSLOP BICYCLES

Bicycles are rapidly coming back into popular favor, the demand this year being five times what it was five years ago. We have planned for it in two ways—by getting the very best equipment which we can for popular sale, and by filling orders direct by mail instead of through agents. In this way we can offer and give better satisfaction all round. The quality of the wheels is all right—only the best materials used and only skilled mechanics employed in construction. The equipment is right up-to-date and the machines throughout are such as we can thoroughly recommend. We sell automobiles as well as bicycles and our plan is to make wheels serve as a good advertisement to the entire business. Send for illustrated folder.

$50 Wheels for $25

The Boy and the Celebrity

By Fanny Medbury Pendleton.
Copyright, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

Every sojourner in the apartment house knew him as the boy. He had come to the city to seek success in the lands of fate. His capital consisted, first, of dreams, of which he had an unlimited supply, and, second, of a small income, just sufficient to pay the rent of his two rooms and to keep him from a constant contact with the realities of life.

Although these stern realities were all about him, he regarded them from afar because he had never been forced to grapple with them.

Day after day he bent over the keys of his typewriter, transferring to paper a cloud of visions that were hidden in long envelopes and took wing to the literary market, whence too often they fluttered back.

Still he wrote on, and his dreams rose as a bulwark against the buffets of the world, and his cheerful face smiled at life.

Among the many other dwellers in the house was the little music teacher across the hall, who squeaked barely enough income from the world to keep together her slender body and her gentle soul.

Her face was young and sweet, but the struggle with life had set its work upon it, and she sometimes envied the boy his cheerful face, though she took herself to task mournfully for harboring such unworthy thoughts.

The boy thought little of his neighbor, although he always liked to listen in the evening when her sweet voice and the notes of her old piano floated across the hall.

"This afternoon the boy's mind was busy with another person than the music teacher.

"I wonder," he said to himself, "if she'll wear them. Of course she'll never know from whom they came."

A wistful look deepened between his eyes.

"Of course she'll never know," he pondered of youth and beauty. The real woman was worn, and there was something in her face that told him the boy more than even her stately attire. The door closed, and he fled. As he groped his way through the darkness of his sitting room, he turned on the pages of his latest manuscript that had fallen to the floor, but he did not heed. Throwing himself into an armchair, he leaned against the table and buried his face in his arms.

For a long time he sat in the darkness. The thought of his vision now only with a feeling of self disgust.

Suddenly the soft strains of "Annie Laurie" fell on his ears, played and sung by the girl across the hall. He raised his face and listened. A sudden contrast rose before him—the hard features by his seat and the sweet, modest face of his little neighbor. He obeyed a sudden impulse that brought him to his feet and sent him across the hall. The door was ajar.

The strains of the old song had ceased, but the girl was still sitting before the piano, her face buried in the fragrance of a new violet.

She raised a startled face at his knock, but at sight of the boy her brow brightened, and she turned to him in wonder at the smooth collar of her soft brown hair—and marvelled that the garish gold had ever seemed so beautiful.

"Oh," she said, "I have had such a lovely present! And, lifting the violets, she took long, luxurious sniffs. "I don't know who sent them. I just think, the janitor said they were for the sweet singer," and she laughed happily.

There was something in the boy's face that startled her.

"Oh," she cried, "did you—I believe you sent them?"

The boy laughed in a light-hearted way that quite surprised him.

"I am glad you like them," he said. "They are like you somehow—the violets."

The girl's eyes filled with a sudden mist, and she held out an impulsive little hand.

"Oh, you don't know," she said. "I was tired and lonely, and I love flowers. I feel so very helpless sometimes." She finished with a tremulous laugh.

The boy stopped to where she sat and laid a gentle hand on her shoulder. "Little girl," he said softly, "you sing all the old songs. Let us try together the one that you feel the first sweet violets of early spring."

And on the ear of the celebrity as she came forth from her room, the latest "song hit" under her arm, fell the sweet strains of "Oh, From Me!"

Tasting the Climate.

The summer climate of Alaska is often described as possessing a charm and fascination which cannot be described in words. Nevertheless in Alaska, the Great Country," the Higginson tells of an old Klondiker who declared that one could "just make climate."

"It tastes different every hundred miles," he declared, "with that beam of the eye which means love of Alaska in the heart. "You begin to taste it in Grenville channel. It tasted different at Skagway, and there's a big change when you get to White Horse.

"I got it at White Horse, you think you never tasted anything like it. But it doesn't hold a candle there to the way it tastes going down the Yukon valley."

"If you happen to get into the arctic circle, say, about 2 in the morning, you address yourself and like out on deck, and you can taste more climate. You can taste the arctic circle itself. Say, can you guess what it tastes like?"

"I could not guess what the arctic circle tasted like and frankly confessed it."

"Well, say, it tastes like fiddles made out of thin little blue downy feathers and violets. I picked some out from under the snow and even 'em. There was moisture from all over 'em, so I know how they taste, and that's the way the arctic circle tastes."

"Just you remember when you get to the circle air, straight goods, if Graciele still ain't right."

Remarkable Reasons For Duels.

Colonel Montgomery was shot in a duel about a dog. Colonel Ramsey, in one about a servant, Mr. Featherstone in one about a recruit, Stern's father in one about a goose, and another gentleman in one about a bottle of nachos. One officer was challenged for merely asking his opponent to pass him a goblet. Another was compelled to fight about a pinch of snuff. General Barry was challenged by a captain Smith for declining wine at a dinner on a restaurant. Although the general pleaded as an excuse that wine invariably made him sick, and Lieutenant Cowley lost his life in a duel because he was refused admittance to a club of pigeon shooters.

In 1774 a duel occurred in New York between Lieutenant Featherstone of the Seventy-third and Captain McPherson of the Forty-second British regiment in regard to the manner of eating an ear of corn, one contending that the eating was from the cob and the other contending that the grain should be cut off from the cob before eating. Lieutenant Featherstone lost his right arm, the ball from his antagonist's pistol shattering the limb and maiming him for life. W. was amputated. Major Noah lost his life in 1827 at the duelling ground at Hoboken in a simple dispute about what was the heavy course of the building and her death was instantaneous.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE. PEOPLE'S PULPIT.

FORERUNNER OF THE "PULPIT OF THE FUTURE."

In this issue we commence a series of discourses under the caption, "People's Pulpit." They are strictly unsectarian, and not intended to build up any one denomination at the expense of another. As Beecher and Hymns of the same City of Churches were independent preachers who gave their time and strength to the moulding of public thought, with charity toward all and toward none, so with Pastor Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Pastor Russell's only fault (if fault it be) is his extreme Orthodoxy—his close adherence to the Bible as the inspired Word of God. But after all, if the Bible be not man's only chart and compass as respects God and the future, what have we? And if this be so perhaps it is impossible to give too earnest heed to its teachings. On one point Pastor Russell is quite emphatic, namely—he insists that it is inconsistent with reason to believe that all mankind, except the merest handful of "saints," were predestinated by God to eternal torment in fire, because of ignorance or unbelief. Ninety-nine out of one hundred of our readers, we conclude years ago, and it shook our faith in the Bible theologically and doctrinally. Pastor Russell, however, holds to the Bible as it is, and to prove that on this point it has been misunderstood by many of its friends as well as by its enemies, he has shown a few faulty translations, and offered pre-eminently sound and sensible interpretations for them. His presentations of the Bible's teachings have certainly rescued many from unbelief.

Mr. C. T. Smith, deceased, who was one of the editors of the Atlanta Constitution, paid Pastor Russell, a most pronounced compliment along this line in the following terms: "It is impossible to read his writings without loving the man and pondering his wonderful solution of the great mysteries that have troubled us all our lives. There is hardly a family to be found that has not lost some loved one to the Church—outside the plan of salvation, and if Calvinism be true, outside of all hope and inside of eternal torment and despair. He makes no assertions that are not well sustained by the Scriptures. His argument is by stone, and upon every stone is a text, and there is nothing in the Bible that the author denies or doubts, but there are many texts upon which he throws a flood of light that seems to uncover its meaning."

That evening the boy pictured the celebrity pressing her fair face in the fragrant violets. Would she wear them? He opened his door and walked down the long hall to the window at the end. His eyes were on the door of the celebrity's sitting room. Presently she would come out on her way to the theater.

She was most lovely in the big black velvet hat and lace veil, and without the veil, thought he, she must be lovelier far. His eyes were bright when her door opened and a woman looked out into the hall.

She wore a molten kimono, her cheeks were lined and sallow, her hair was only half arranged, and in her hands she held a string of Auburn puffs. "The boy gazed at her with startled eyes. With a horrible sinking of the heart, he recognized the celebrity.

A Simple Linen Collar

Handkerchief Linen and Embroidered

Simple Style

SHEER blouses and sheath gowns have been jokingly called "back to nature" garments, but perhaps there is some truth in the name. Surely there is a trend toward unadorned simplicity. We have the tight-fitting gown, the one-piece dress, the sandal fad, the old-fashioned sun hat and now the comfortable, cool and artistic Byron collar.

The "Gibson" collar, with its artificial height, is still with us. It is plainly fitted, and the bones under the ears serve to preserve the unbroken line of the neck and shoulder. One of the beauties of low neck is that it reveals the curve from the ear to the top of the shoulder, and when a high collar is properly fitted and properly boned the curve is easily discovered. The ruche around the top merely serves to soften the line of the face. It does not in any way break the beautiful line, though it would were the collar a little lower.

The turned-down collar, variously called Byron, Priscilla, Eton, is a device for comfort, very becoming to some and very unbecoming to others. Here we have the line of the neck and shoulder totally concealed, but we have instead the curve of chin and throat. These low collars are made of many materials, although all of the same general cut. The tie worn may depend upon the material of the collar, although a black silk tie or bow is always proper, no matter how ornate the collar may be. This is true for the reason that these collars were never intended to be worn with formal gowns; at least, they have not yet been sufficiently accepted to make such use for them quite "commune il faut." They are particularly intended for shirtwaists and one or two piece morning dresses, and they will be useful for schoolgirls in the fall, as they make a comfortable and pretty finish to a one-piece cloth or serge frock.

The collars of handkerchief linen and bits of precious lace are also used only for informal occasions; with them it is allowable to wear a little bow made of lace or fine linen.

Handkerchiefs make charming collars and bows of this type, particularly when combined with baby Irish or real valencienne edging.

Hand embroidery, too, turns a plain linen collar into a thing of beauty, and many of the prettiest are decorated with English eyelet work. With these one may wear a little linen bow, also embroidered in eyelet.

One beauty of the low collar is that it is the most becoming style of neckwear for the younger girl, the maiden who is just at the awkward age. For her the high collar is inappropriate, and the band at the top of the dress is not a very attractive finish. She may, therefore, appropriately wear a broad low collar, whether it be of plain linen or embroidery.

What a charming school dress may be made of blue serge—waist and skirt quite plain, the neck finished only with a plain stiff linen Eton collar and black four-in-hand tie! It is girlish, attractive and serviceable.

It seems odd that in one season there should be such a difference of style—only the very high and the very low collars are really the fashion. The half-way, medium-height collar has no place at all in the present scheme of things. But, after all, the high collar suits the woman with the long neck, the low one suits her with the short neck, while the average woman may wear either that appeals to her fancy. As usual, Dame Fashion seems to have a reason.

Arrangement has been made by the News to publish weekly the sermon

WHY HE DID NOT ASK

HIS FATHER FOR THE INHERIT-ANCE OF THE HEATHEN.

He Knew His Heavenly Father's Plan and Therefore Has Been Content to Wait and Place That Request in Due Time—The Selection of the Church, the Bride of Christ, the Members of His Body.

Oakland, Cal., July 18.—The Bible Students' Convention of Believers in the Atonement by the Precious Blood opened here yesterday. Pastor Russell of Brooklyn was the principal speaker on the programme to-day. He spoke from the text (Ps. ii. 8) "Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession."

Our text is from one of the Messianic Psalms. It represents our Lord as making known to his people the Heavenly Father's decree regarding him for his faithfulness as our Redeemer, assuring him that he will be King to the Kingdom, and that with this will come the inheritance of all the earth, with power to fully subject all things to the Heavenly Father's will.
He was to have it for the mere request—"Ask for it, and it shall be thine." This world-wide dominion has not yet come to Messiah; the heathen are not yet his subjects, nor has he yet parts of the earth as yet his possession.
Indeed, as the Prophet declares, "Darkness covers the earth, and gross darkness the heathen."

When we remember our Redeemer's love for the race, and how he laid him to lay down his life "to seek and to recover that which was lost," we are inclined to amaze ourselves that he has not yet asked the Father for his inheritance of the heathen—we are astonished that he has permitted "the prince of darkness" and "the reign of sin and death" for more than eighteen centuries since he suffered, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God. Our perplexity in the matter might well be aroused, for our Lord's words to the Sadducees, "Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God," are applicable to the Redeemer, who has been so long in the Scriptures more fully, and to appreciate how the power of God will be extended to fully subject the heathen under the dominion of the Redeemer, the eyes of our understanding are enabled to see the Father's plan, and his purpose to bring us to the Kingdom.

Our Lord did not ask for his great prize to our lives in this world, because he knew the Father's plan, and was well contented with the Divine mission and mission which he had accepted. He did not ask to receive the heathen for an inheritance at the beginning of his great work, but had been content to wait and place that request in its due time in harmony with the Father's plan. The Divine programme which must first be fulfilled. That other feature is the selection of the Church, the Bride of Christ, the members of His Body. It pleased the Father to make our Lord not only the Redeemer, but also the world's King, but also to make him the High Priest of an Understanding, the Bridegroom of the Church, his Bride; the Elder Brother of these saints of glory whom the Father is planning to have developed during this Gospel Age as "New Creatures in Christ Jesus"—"sharers of his anointing, and his glory to follow."

Meantime the heathen have been suffering no damage. Born in sin, shaven in iniquity, condemned to death, they have been experiencing with sin and death, and going down to the great prison-house for periods of unconsciousness—until the Redemer, at his second advent shall call them and all who have been in the great prison-house, the tomb. This he foretold saying, "All that are in their graves shall hear the voice of the Son of Man and come forth." This will include not only the Church of the "First-Born ones, who have been proved of God, and who, passing trial will, come forth into life eternal, and it will include also all the redeemed of mankind, those who have not had God's approval, all of whom, because redeemed, shall come forth into judgment—trial. A fair trial will be theirs, to determine their worthiness of the Kingdom of God, and by the manner in which they will receive or reject the Christ of God when, during the Millennium, the same shall be made fully known to them.

It is part of the Divine purpose also that the whole earth should be filled with people, and hence the bringing forth of a progeny is a part of the Divine will. The few short years of the present life, with experience of sin and death conditions, will in due time be supplemented by the glorious period of the Millennium, and its great opportunities for lessons of righteousness and wisdom, for rewards. Its corrective "stripes," or punishments, to the careless will be the instruction that so many as possible may ultimately be entirely recovered from death conditions and brought into full accord with the Father's will. And others, demonstrating their unwillingness to come into heart sympathy with righteousness, will be destroyed from amongst the people (Acts iii. 23).

So, then, our Lord's reason for not asking sooner for the heathen as his inheritance, and the remotest parts of the earth for his possession, was because he knew the Father's plan to be a different plan, and that it was the most excellent way and he delighted to do the Father's will. And so with all the followers of Christ. So soon as they ascertain the Father's glorious plan of salvation, they find it to be soul-satisfying, and greatly prefer it to any plan of their own. It is the undeveloped Christians, whom the Apostle designates "babes in Christ," who are continually praying to the Heavenly Father for a change of the Divine programme, imagining that their wisdom and their love in respect to the heathen are superior to those of the infinite Creator. Nearly all Christian people have had their experience with such ignorance, and we are glad to suppose that the Heavenly

Father laid not the sin of such presumption to their charge, but rather sympathetically appreciated our interest in the heathen, although he must have deprecated our lack of reverence, our headiness, our high-minded assumptions of more than infinite wisdom.

We are not saying a word against missions—home and foreign. Quite to the contrary; we believe that every Christian should labor with heart and hand to do all in his power to glorify the Father and the Redeemer, and to enlighten his fellowmen respecting the cross of Christ, and the blessings and perils which it secures. But while gladly, willingly, serving the divine cause, "instant in season and out of season," we should be laboring and waiting. We should learn that the laboring under present conditions is of no avail, and that the Father's development in the minds of the Royal Priesthood of the sacrificing qualifies, and the grace of the holy Spirit—meekness, gentleness, patience, faith, long-suffering, brotherly kindness, love.

Let us be sure, dear friends, that any theory of ours respecting the heathen, or that we are in a matter of Divine programme, which in any degree implies superior wisdom, or superior insight, or superior knowledge, as compared with that of our Heavenly Father and our Redeemer, must be wrong. There is no need to pray from the heart, "Thy will be done," the better it will be for us, the more we will be able to get into harmony with our Lord, and the more will we be used as his ambassadors and representatives of his Kingdom.
It is foolishness with God, and the wisdom of God is foolishness with men, hence we are enabled to rejoice exceedingly.

When we remember our Redeemer's
love for the race, and how he laid
him to lay down his life "to seek and
are inclined to amaze ourselves that he has not yet asked the Father for his inheritance of the heathen—we are aston-

to the heathen are superior to those

Christian people have had their ex-

are glad to suppose that the Heavenly man, will begin with the generation living at the time of the establishment of the Lord's Kingdom. In due time it will proceed, and ultimately include all that are in their graves, in the reverse order from that which they entered, and the last shall be the first to come forth every man in his own order" or class.

Too frequently do Bible students neglect to see whether or not their interpretations are in harmony with the context of the passages under discussion. Let us now make this more plain. Turning to the second Psalm, we find that, following our text and a part with it, is the declaration, "Thou shalt break them with a rod from iron; thou shalt dash them in pieces like a potter's vessel" (verse 10). The application of this evidently is to the time for our Lord's second advent, when the selection of the Church shall be completed, and she shall be ready to receive him as the Bride, the Lamb's Wife, symbolically pictured in the New Jerusalem from God out of heaven. From that New Jerusalem we are told that the river of the water of life shall flow out, and that whosoever will, he may partake of it freely—all that are thirsty. On either bank will grow the trees of life, whose leaves are for the healing of the nations. And the Spirit and the Bride will say Come, and whosoever will, he may take of the water of life freely. But meantime, before the nations, the world, will be ready for that blessing, the New Jerusalem, they must needs pass through a period of very deep desolation—a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation.

As for the nations of that time, the extent to which they will suffer desolation will depend largely on their own attitude, as is intimated by the verses following our text. Those of the nations who are ready to heartily accept of Messiah's rule will be re-spondingly saved from the breaking down. Hence it is urged, "Kiss the Son, O ye kings of the earth; kiss the Son, lest he be angry with you and ye perish from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little." But while this seems to offer leniency, there is a warning to the nations on the manner in which the Messianic Kingdom shall be received.
The Scriptures seem to indicate that all the nations, not only heathen but civilized, will be found in violent opposition to the heavenly Kingdom, and hence that all together they will be crushed as the vessels of a Potter.

The Lord tells us that as the heavens are higher than the earth, so his ways are higher than man's ways, and his plans higher than man's plans. And this we find true as we come better understanding the Scriptures. Who ever dreamed of such lengths and breadths and heights and depths of love divine, as the Scriptures, as are implied and included in the great plan of selecting, first the Church—Jesus, the Redeemer, the Church, His Body—and then through these blessings all the families of the earth with a knowledge of Him and the glorious opportunities for life eternal? We cannot but claim a universal salvation, because the Scriptures do not authorize this, but plainly speak of those who die in their sins, and who are not saved.
Second Death, proving themselves not sufficiently in harmony with righteousness to be worthy of eternal life—even after being brought to a knowledge of the truth. But the Scriptures do show that the unbelieving and disobedient shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of God, and every creature in heaven, and in earth, and under the earth, shall be heard acclaiming praise, honor, glory, dominion, and might, to him who sitteth upon the throne, and to the Lamb forever. And he upon the throne declares, Behold, I make all things new. And there shall be no more sighing, and no more crying, and no more dying, for the former things shall have passed away (Revelation xii. 1-5).

In the Profession, Struggling with one of his children on Hampstead Heath one day Mr.
Martin Harvey crossed a fence and Judy show, and paused in front of the elevated theatre to see the farciest tragedy out. The steady man who stood at the side waiting for the time for collecting the spectators' coppers looked hard at the actor who was in the line of the theatre, and the entertainment, and when it came to going round with the hat he looked at the man. The man, however, offered the man a shilling.
"No," said the steady man, "I vigorously shake of the head. "I've often been into your show on the road, and it's my turn now."

Another Admirable Criticism.
Mr. L. M. Ballou-Melville, President of the Scottish Cricket Union, is a name to conjure with. Thirty-three years ago he figured in the first played between Scotland and England, and Glasgow, scoring 171 runs. He was a very successful player has passed without his name figuring in the centurylist. As a wicket-keeper, he has been very successful, and he proved his versatility by being capped against England in the Rugby International of 1872, when winning the covered court lawn tennis championship.

The Guilty Wretch.
One winter's evening in the city of Belfast, where a water inspection was going on, he stopped at one of the mains in a busy street to turn off the water owing to some trouble.
He had just put the handle on the tap and begun turning when a hand was placed on his shoulder, and he round, he was confronted by a tipsy gentleman, who said in a drunken voice, "So I have found you at last, have you? It's 11 o'clock, turning the street rod is 12"—London Telegraph.

Come Opera Fire Brigade.
It is stated that the engine of the Grand Harwood Council recently that the council's fire engine could not attend a fire brigade. We view this incident with some interest, as the man, some of whom were wearing unconventional costumes, even a waggonette painted and altered so as to represent a horse tender.

Dr. McIntyre Dead.

Strathcona, July 21.—Flags are flying at half mast, and a general feeling of solemnity pervades the city over the death of Dr. W.
V. McIntyre, the Liberal member for the Strathcona constituency in the Dominion House of Commons, which occurred a few minutes before five o'clock this morning, following an operation at the city hospital.

Dr. McIntyre had been ill a week, but from the first day medical aid was called in his condition was seen to be critical. He did not at first take his case seriously, and in order not to worry Mrs. McIntyre he refrained from saying anything for two days, but treated himself. When Dr. Holson was called last Thursday the chronic kidney trouble had made alarming progress.
Other doctors were called in consultation from time to time. Yesterday the crisis was reached, and after a consultation between the city physicians, it became evident that the only chance to save his life was an operation.

Dr. McIntyre was taken to the hospital in the evening, and the operation was performed about midnight by Dr. Duncan Smith of Edmonton, assisted by Drs. J.
M. Holson, Archibald, Greene and May, Strathcona, and Dr. A.
Horton, of Lethbridge. The operation was completed, but the doctor never recovered from the shock and slowly weakened, the last spark of life flickering out at about 4 o'clock. It was discovered that the left kidney had been diseased for years.

The remains were temporarily removed to Wainwright's undertaking parlors this morning, to be taken later to his late residence at the corner of Second avenue north and Fifth Street east.

RECENTLY MARRIED.
A young wife survives the deceased. Mrs. McIntyre was Miss May Hartley, of Owen Sound, prior to her marriage a year ago last New Year's day.
The doctor had purchased a beautiful home in this city this summer, and they had justly settled a few weeks before his death.

The doctor practiced medicine in the city between sessions at Ottawa, having an office at the rear of Duncan's drug store, and enjoyed a large practice. His one brother, Malcolm McIntyre, is Canadian emigration agent in Glasgow, and another, Zach, resides in Winnipeg.

Promoting New Railways.

(Edmonton Bulletin, July 22.) John T. Moore, Red Deer, was in the city yesterday and today in the afternoon to return south.
During the past few months Mr.
Moore has been in Toronto and other eastern cities interesting himself in the proposed Alberta Central Railway of which he is the provisional president.
The proposed line has a charter covering the territory east and west of Red Deer from the Yellowhead to Moose Jaw and from Red Deer to Saskatoon. The territory served is among the best in the west.

"I have been successful in securing the necessary for the undertaking," he said to a Bulletin representative. "We held a meeting of the provincial directors in Red Deer yesterday and we arranged for the general meeting of the directors on August 23rd to carry out the permanent organization. If it is the will of the newly elected directors we can begin to work on the surrounding. Continuing necessary operations at once for we have the money available."

Mr. Moore gave an emphatic denial to the report that the proposed line was necessary was absorbed by any of the three transcontinental lines. "It has been financed on its own foundation," he said, "and you can rest assured that it will run as an independent line."

J. Munn, vice president of the McArthur Paper Co., of Montreal, accompanied Mr. Moore to Edmonton. He was very greatly impressed with Edmonton. He left in the afternoon for the coast.

Some, fully appreciating the value of the service they are able to render, advise us to do free. It is not everyone, however, that can properly fit you with glasses. There is the rub. I have practiced scientific optometry here for many years. By my record and by my work I am willing to be judged. Ask my many hundreds of satisfied clients.

Circus Day.

It matters not how modern a circus may become it can never become so much as to do away with the clown. The immense tents now necessary to seat the thousands who flock to a performance, have made it compulsory to do away with the singing and talking clowns, for it would be impossible to hear them. The pantomime clown has taken the place of the old time talking clown, and where there was one of the latter, there are now scores of the former. In his day, the singing and talking clown pleased the audiences, but to-day his efforts would be considered foolish and he would be a failure as a laughter producer. Not so with the mimic and pantomimist. He is funny at all times if he is true clown. There are more possibilities for the mimic and pantomimist than ever presented themselves to the talking clown.

Cole Brothers' World Toured Shows that will be here Wednesday August 4, have with them no less than forty one of these funny fellows and every one of them is funny without being so disgustingly foolish and suggestive as many so often seen with other shows. Every one of the queer characters that has made the comic supplements popular, are included in the bunch of fun makers with this show, and every character taken, is in the hands of clowns with national reputations. Their fun is spasmodic and not of the out and dried variety that makes laugh producing seem like labor. Their antics, contortions, pranks and the shines they cut up at the expense of one another, are extremely funny and are so vigorously carried out that one almost forgets that they are part of the show and being paid for what they are doing. Aside from the mimics and pantomimists are the mirthful comedians. These manufacturers of comedy and with the other clowns in creating merriment, and between them there is something doing every minute. No circus is complete without good clowns and the Cole Brothers have a host of the very best ones.

Boy Killed by Lightning.

During the storm of Friday, July 16th, a lad named G. Stephenson, of Markerville, aged 16, was instantly killed by lightning. He was in the barn with two other lads, and when the storm let up a little he made a dash for the house, and taking a short cut, had placed his hand on the wire fence to crawl through when he fell back dead, the wire conveying the full charge of electricity through his body. One of the other lads was stunned. Great sympathy is felt for the parents by the neighborhood, and a funeral was one of the largest ever seen in the district.

Mount Pleasant Cemetery "Bee."

Mount Pleasant Cemetery, between Springvale and Willowdale, was the scene of a successful "Bee" on Wednesday afternoon last, July 21st, when several persons gathered to trim up the cemetery grounds. A few hours of labor with mower, scythe, brush hook, fork, etc., wrought quite a transformation in the appearance of the place. It is hoped that a larger number will gather on the next occasion in order that the work may be accomplished more thoroughly during the time. Plots in this cemetery may be secured by consulting the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Thomas Gummow of Willowdale, or the Methodist minister at Springvale.
